

The Vision of Black America

Our mission is to elevate our ethnic group to become one of the most prosperous and influential communities globally. We aim to achieve this by revitalizing and expanding the Black economy through strategic investments in various industries within the United States and internationally. By fostering economic growth and stability, we seek to empower our community and create opportunities for future generations.

Our objective extends beyond economic empowerment; we strive to amplify our influence within the American political system. By actively participating in the political process, advocating for policies that benefit our community, and supporting leaders who represent our interests, we aim to ensure that our voices are heard, and our needs are addressed.

Our current operations to achieve this vision include the Black Economic Development Community (BEDC) and the Black American International Mission (BAIM). The BEDC helps individuals create and develop businesses and nonprofit organizations, fostering entrepreneurship and economic growth within our community. Meanwhile, BAIM assists African Americans living and traveling abroad by supporting their business activities, providing assistance programs, and educating local communities about African American culture.

In summary, our vision is to build a thriving and powerful Black community that not only excels economically but also holds significant sway in the political arena. Through dedicated efforts in economic development and political engagement, we are committed to advancing the interests of Black Americans and creating a brighter future for all.
